If you are looking to change your car then search on the internet for used BMW dealer London. There is a good variety of choice ranging from BMW franchised main dealers to smaller independent specialists such as Big Motoring World in Kent. To be honest, any car dealer located around the M25 isn't a long drive from the city centre as you can get around the M25 in no time if the traffic is not too bad. I would avoid rush hour drive time though as it can be stressful and make sure you have change for the Dartford crossing.
